CONFERENCE THEME

Research is considered as a powerful weapon to modernize the world with multi dimensional and sophisticated life style of the people Research is an age old concept which was initiated from the stone age periods through making of the abacus for animal hunting and wheels for moving of heavy objects. Conventional research becomes scientific research with the help of modern equipments and infrastructure. Now research becomes a part and partial of our day to day activities of human beings. Doing academic research is considered as prestigious as any other professional course like MS, M.Phil, Ph.D, D.Sc etc. Doctorates are given preference and recognition as a professor / scientist in the Higher Educational Institutions.

Academic researches in Higher Educational Institutions are highly controversial against quality honesty and ethics from the restructuration to award of degree therefore UGC has introduced guidelines. Under the UGC guidelines Ph.D should be awarded as per the norms prescribed. But still the quality of the academic research is questionable. The simple reason is nothing but the ethical issues in research. Ethics in research has been compromised and in some occasions it has been violated by Higher Educational Institutions by the research advisor and by the research scholars. Academic research has become an outsourcing and commercial element used by almost all stakeholders of the Higher Educational Institutions. With this effect, number of research report has been increasing without any quality or socio economic relevance. Research guide and scholars could not write a page or speak about the research without a piece of paper of reference. Cut, Copy, Paste is the customary of the academic research.

To avoid this kind of practice, UGC, introduced plagiarism checking as mandatory for thesis submission. Writing research article and publishing in a reputed journal is also another become serious issue in the academic researches. To reform and promote the quality of the research publication, in July 2017, UGC introduced a schemes is called as UGC approved list of Journals and also propose to establish consortium for academic research ethics. Researchers should publish their articles only in these listed journals. In this respect, the proposed conference deliberates and disincarnates the ethical issues in academic research which has very significant role to promote the quality of the academic research. Proposed conference will be discussed with the following subject concern.
